STAN'S SOAPBOX

Hi, Heroes!

You're in luck! I decided to spare you the agony of reading another of my never-to-be forgotten (and until-kely-to-be-remembered) New Year's poems!

But you don't get off scot-free! In place of the usual valiant bit of versifying, I thought I'd let you in on some of the nifty New Year's resolutions I've made for 1994, in which I resolutely resolve:

1. To give Jim Cameron some tips on how to direct action movies
2. To let Arnold Schwarzenegger borrow my personal edition of "Secrets of Body Building"
3. Not to leave Sharon Stone on "hold" anymore when she phones
4. To unstintingly offer my financial advice to Ron Perelman.
5. To try to talk Tom DeFalco into growing a beard
6. To use my influence to have less car chases in BARBIE FASHION.
7. To force Terry Stewart to wear a Marvel T-shirt.
8. To attempt to use alliteration when I write stuff
9. To convince Marvel to try putting holograms on some covers
10. To get Avi Arad interested in toys (Sorry, guys — an inside joke.)
11. To forego my natural reluctance and occasionally put my name in our comicbooks.
12. To finally allow Spidey to guest-star in other Marvel mags
13. To trick Fabian Nicieza into writing more than one comicbook title a month
14. To continue taking public speaking lessons from BEAVIS AND BUTTHEAD.
15. And, of course, never to rest until I finally learn what "Excelsior" means!

There you have it, True Believers! They're brain dead, I know, but hey, they could have been worse — I could'a put 'em in verse!

Excelsior!

Another year has come to a close! The crossovers have finished crossing over, the foil covers have been wrapped up, and Thor has been fitted for a straightjacket. All that's left is for us to once again present our annual Marvey Awards for noteworthy Marvel moments from 1993!

The "Worst Math" Award goes to all those people who think the year after 2099 is 3000!

The "First-Name Basis" Award goes to the creative team for the INCREDIBLE HULK: Peter David and Gary Frank — no last names for these guys! We'd like to recommend they get Sam Kieth to ink the book, and Tom Vincent to color it!

The "Worst Secret Identity" Award goes to Jean Grey of the X-Men, who goes by the code-name of "Jean Grey!" Way to go, Jeannie — that'll fool 'em!

The "You Can Have it Both Ways" Award goes to Mighty Marvel, for introducing new, darker versions of our classic characters — while keeping the originals around, for good measure! (Examples: Thor/Thunderstrike, Captain America/USAgent, Iron Man/War Machine)

The "Crisis of Infinite Crossovers" Award also goes to Marvel for scheduling an incredible three major crossovers — "Maximum Carnage," the "Midnight Massacre," and the "Infinity War"— to run simultaneously!

The "New Blood" Award goes to all those characters who debuted this year with the word "blood" in their names. Bloodbath, Bloodhawk, Bloodwraith... the "B" volume of the next edition of the Marvel Handbook is going to be packed with more entries than a blood bank!

The "X For Success" award goes to the suspicious number of titles that debuted in '93 with the letter "X" prominently displayed in their titles! (And we're not just talking Marvels here!)

The "Y's Have it" Award goes to all those characters who can't even spell their own names properly — Stryfe, Spyke, Lady Deathstryke — whatever happened to the letter "I"?

The "When I was a Kid, We Called 'em Comics" Award goes to ultra-prolific writer Fabian (X-FORCE) Nicieza, who refers to his stories in their credit boxes as "in your face jams"! That Fabe is one hyper-trendy guy!

The "Blind Man's New Clothes Award" goes to Daredevil, who finally donned some new threads last year after 30 years of living in the red!

The "Decent Proposal" Award goes to Jean Grey, who waited 30 years for Scott Summers to pop the question, and got so sick of waiting that she proposed to him instead!

Finally we have the "Like A Phoenix" Award which goes to FANTASTIC FOUR writer Tom DeFalco, who killed off Reed Richards and Doctor Doom in the same story, but promised that "Death is a temporary condition in the Marvel Universe!" Guess this means Bucky and Gwen Stacy can breathe a little easier!

Those are all the awards for this year, but we'll be back next week with another in your face, jam-packed Bullpen Page!
